LITTLE LESSONS IN Big Sports

How Can a Player Feed a Batter Other Than by Throwing Curves?

Answered by VERNON ("HED") FATHER.

Pitcher, Chicago White Sox, who let in fewer earned runs per game than any other Big League pitcher last season.

Confuse the batter. Change your pace. Should you be sending out fast, speedy ones, slow them down. Dribble them over the plate, as if the day were too hot. It startles the most sedate old timer at the bat when you change your pace. He's not looking for it and it's sure to register and joggle him out of his reverie.

Great Falls, Mont., May 24.—"I will fight any of them," declared Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, when shown a disputed elting the challenge sent him by Ernesto Spalla of Italy, European heavyweight champion.

"But," he said, "just now I have about all the fighting I can attend to. If we clean up this side of the water, I would be willing to take on the European fighter. I don't remember Spalla and I haven't heard of his battles, but it's all right with me as far as the fighting part is concerned."

Johnny Rawlings, who was obtained by the Pirates in a trade with the Philadelphia Nationals, played second base today, replacing Tierney, who went to the Phillies.

Tierney hit a home run in the seventh inning. Lavan, St. Louis shortstop, struck in the face by a pitched ball during batting practice, was unable to play.

GENERAL BEST COLONIALS.

The D. & H. Generals of Albany won from the Colonials at Kingston on Wednesday by the score of 8 to 5 in a ten-inning game, the second victory for the Generals this season. The Colonials came from behind in the last half of the ninth and tied the score at 5 all. In the tenth the Generals captured the game. Herkert first up hit a homer over the leftfield fence. A walk followed by hits in succession by O'Neill and Benson added two runs. Kingston was unable to score in the last half of the ninth. Both these teams will quite likely be seen in Oneonta this season.

New York, May 24.—Loadings of revenue freighter for the week ending May 12, totalled 974,500 cars, the greatest loadings on record for any week since Nov. 4, 1922, and within four per cent of the greatest in history, according to reports to the American Railway association. The week's loadings were an increase of 297,433 over the corresponding period last year and of 225,345 over the corresponding week of 1921.

New York, May 24.—Use of the Schick test in immunizing for diphtheria has greatly reduced deaths from this disease in the last year, said the annual report of the health department laboratories just made public. ## GIANTS DEFEAT TROOPERS

Exhibition Game at Neahwa Park Yesterday Brought in Oneonta Victory, 4 to 1, in Interesting Game—Players Show Up Well—Wild Pitch by Trooper Marker Aid Bridwell's Outfit Materially in Gathering in Their Quartz of Talons.

The Giants got under way yesterday at Neahwa park by winning the exhibition game with the State Troopers from Sidney barracks, 4 to 1. Three of those things called innings ended by before the boys in center field had an opportunity to break the two next lines or score they had been displaying to the gaze of the goodly number of fans and spectators present under the newly covered roof of the grand stand. The work in the field, while good, was not of the thrilling kind, but a couple of quick, close plays made their appearance and the paid admissions stuck until the very end of the contest.

The troopers came out slightly in the lead on hits, getting six of the Giants' five, one or two of them being of the doubtful variety. McAlister started to shove the twisters over the pentagon for the Bridwell clan and held the opposition to a quarter of bobbins while he was on the hill. Al switched him and McLean in the seventh and the latter allowed the same proportion of hits—two for the three innings.

Vanderberd did the moundwork for the state cops and did very well, but was exceedingly wild at times—times when control meant the cutting off of runs and the lack of it the registering of these scores. Every one of the five wild pitches charged against the policeman figured in the run gathering of the Giants. McLean and Bridwell advancing from first to third in different innings by this means and the latter scored from second on one which the catcher couldn't locate after it had passed him.

The new Giant players showed up well and Sinstack, the "old reliable," claimed 13 putouts, one assist and a couple of hits, one a double. Bridwell got five assists at short, the other ball coming to him taking a bad bound as he went down after it.

The game took a bad start. Hulse coaxed a pass out of McAlister after the latter had put the first one across for a strike. A passed ball put him on second, but Baker fanned, as did Barry after Skelly had grounded out. Freer, trooper third sacker, hit a triple in the second with two down and turned his ankle going into third and was replaced by Barry from right. Launt took up the duties of outgardener.

The purple tie crew scored the first bell-ringer. Skelly hit the first ball pitched to center for a single and advanced one notch on Barry's ground out, pitcher to first. McAlister threw second in an effort to cut off the runner but the throw was barely beyond the reach of Dibble as he ran after the flying sphere, the runner going to third and scored on a passed ball.

Another chance to score was presented to the visitors. In the sixth Hulse singled to right and swiped second. Baker singled to center and his predecessor scampered for third and then home, being barely caught by a belated throw in from the outer breastworks.

The Giants were compelled to watch four scoreless rounds pass by before they gained a lead of two runs. McLean was first up and hit a clean single to center field, advancing to second and third on two wild pitches. McAlister fell a victim of Vandewalker's shorts and fanned, but Dibble received free transportation to first. Bridwell came across with one of those timely singles for which he is famous, scoring the initial Oneonta run and placing Dibble on third. Watkins dumped a bunt down, being out at first on a sacrifice which scored Dibble and put the manager on the apex sack, whence he scored on a wild pitch which Elkin failed to locate in time to prevent 180 feet of the base paths being traversed on that one slip-up.

It was Bridwell who secured the final count, also. He, the first man up in the eighth, was passed and maneuvered to second and later to third via wild pitch route. Watkins hit a drive to left which looked as if it were destined for a hit but the ball was caught in flight. Elkin rounded, short to first, Bridwell scoring. Davis finished the game with a rounder to second for an easy assist.

THE VACANT JUDGESHIP

The recent death of Supreme Court Justice Michael H. Kiley of Cazenovia creates a vacancy in the list of judges in the Sixth Judicial district, which Governor Smith is under the law empowered to fill for the balance of the year. In November next a justice will be elected for the full term to fill his place, and at the same time there will be elected a second justice to fill the place of Leon C. Rhodes, who was appointed by Governor Miller in the last fortnight of the latter's term to fill the vacancy created by the death of Justice Tuthill.

As to who will be named for the latter vacancy, now filled by the pro tem appointment of Justice Rhodes, there does not as yet appear to be much discussion, though at a later date the Republicans of a district strong of that faith will probably give it consideration.

As Governor Miller filled the earlier vacancy by appointment of a Republican, so no doubt will Governor Smith fill that caused by the death of Justice Kiley, by a Democrat. This is the natural and commonly accepted method of procedure, and in the present instance it gives opportunity for recognition to a member of a party which has not in half a century or more elected a Supreme Court Justice in this district. While the appointment has not yet been made, friends of several prominent attorneys are canvassing the situation and the chances of their candidates alike from a personal and geographical standpoint.

In the district, as has been pointed out, there are now five justices, two of them located in Elmira, and one each in Cortland, Oneonta and Binghamton. There are ten counties in the district—Broome, Chenango, Chenango, Cortland, Delaware, Madison, Otsego, Schuyler, Tioga and Tompkins. It is reasonable to assume that the appointment will not go to any of the four counties of Chenango, Cortland, Broome or Otsego, each of them already having a judge or more. Some of the other counties for one reason or another, have no candidates who seem at this time available, and it is not improbable that the choice will fall either on Madison, Chenango or Tompkins county. The men whose names may be presented to the governor for consideration are:

From Madison—Charles A. Hitchcock, an attorney and member of Coley of Coley.

From Chenango—David F. Lee of Norwich and H. C. Stratton of Oxford.

From Tompkins—Frank Irvine of Ithaca.

Mr. Hitchcock is president of the Onondaga county bar association. Mr. Coley has been county Judge of Madison county. Mr. Lee is one of the best trial lawyers in Chenango county and is a former district attorney. Mr. Stratton has served one term as county judge of Chenango county, and is recognized generally as one of the leading lawyers in the sixth judicial district. Judge Stratton is considered among his associates as perhaps the leader of the bar in his county.

Judge Irvine served on the bench in Nebraska before he came to New York state, and made a fine record on the public service commission.

It does not appear that any of these attorneys is a candidate for the nomination. In the opinion of local lawyers acquainted with the bar of the sixth judicial district, all are fully qualified by their legal attainments and experience to serve on the supreme court.

While no candidate has been announced from Delaware county, it is not improbable that the name of one of her favorite sons may yet be presented to the governor. Certainly she has attorneys of eminent fitness for the place.

Government Fish Cap.

A United States Conservation commission car passed through Oneonta yesterday en route east on the 2:45 train for Albany. The car contained about sixty thousand fish of fingerling size, and was routed from the government hatcheries at White Sulphur Springs in West Virginia, and en route for New Hampshire, where the confinement of trout, California trout and alpine trout, along with a small number of gold fish from the government pools at Washington, D. C., will be delivered to the consignees for planting in local lakes. The car was in charge of Captain Burham and five assistants.

CLIPPED FROM EXCHANGES

NOT ACQUAINTED

New Britain, Conn.—Minister.
Great Britain's choice of a successor to Bonar Law will be well received in this country, where Stanley Baldwin made an excellent impression as head of the British mission which negotiated the funding of the debt to the United States. His public activity, indeed, has been chiefly on the side of business affairs, which is perhaps not a disadvantage for a prime minister who has to deal with problems of reconstruction after a great war. In the Lloyd George coalition cabinet he served as financial secretary to the treasurer and later as president of the board of trade, showing such capacity that when the Bonar Law cabinet was formed his selection as chancellor of the exchequer was the natural thing. In that responsible office he has shown much efficiency and his recent budget providing for a sensible relief from tax burdens has added to his popularity.—[Springfield Republican.]

Play That's Work Pays.

Paderewski is said to have received more than $450,000 for his concerts this season. There is a genius who can always find money at the ends of his fingers. It would seem that he could take any of his notes to the bank and get the cash on it. The man who works may feel disgruntled to know that here is one who can make much more than he by merely playing.—[Los Angeles Times.]

An Art That Comes by Nature.

One of the subjects taught in a Paris school for girls is the art of receiving presents. It is unquestionably an art much neglected. Few can accept favors of any sort gracefully. Among the points to be emphasized to the Paris girls is how to show polite surprise when they receive a gift they have been expecting. They must be much more dexterous in France than we have been led to believe if instruction is necessary in so simple a matter as this. American girls know how to get presents without appearing to expect them almost from the cradle.—[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

The Captive's Flight.

The foreigners, six of them Americans, who are captives of the Chinese brigands, have reason to be highly apprehensive at the delay in reaching terms for their release. They are at the mercy of a desperate band knowing not mercy and the negotiations, which are dragging along, may prove fatal to them. Though the Chinese government is held responsible, that will not avail much to the victims if the worst happens.—[Pittsburgh Times-Gazette.]

Tennis Appliances.

Tennis players will appreciate an appliance introduced for the purpose of carrying that extra set of balls to and from the courts during the summer months when pocket space is usually limited. The contrivance, described in Popular Mechanics, consists of a spiral spring of brass wire wound in such a manner that it may be fastened to the side of a racket by its own tension, and containing two ball-holding loops.—[Indianapolis News.]

Feverage a Disability.

Lord Curzon, even before he incurred political disability, protested vigorously against the inexorable law which forbids a peer to become a commoner. A commoner of distinction, influence and wealth may hope to become a peer, but the process cannot be reversed. To an ambitious public man in England elevation to the peerage may be a disaster.—[Springfield Republican.]

TO CELEBRATE JULY FOURTH

Binghamton, Endicott and Johnson City Has Fund of $10,000.

Ten thousand dollars has been contributed for a triple-city celebration of Independence Day by Binghamton, Endicott and Johnson City, and plans are being laid to entertain 250,000 people on that day.

Two thousand dollars will be spent for a tennis display. There will be scores of merry-go-rounds, riding devices and tent shows in the streets and parks. A Xardi-Gran parade with grotesque floats and costumes is being arranged in which 20,000 are expected to participate. Aquatic events will be held on the Susquehanna river and athletic sports in Stow Park. Six hundred real Indians and Boy Scouts will take part in a pageant, with rented costumes valued at $50,000, and an Indian village will be open all day in Stow Park. A baby parade, for which about $200 in prizes will be given, is being planned on scales to rival the famous one in Asbury Park. A speaker of national prominence will deliver the address of the day, his speech being broadcast for many blocks by amplifiers.

H. M. Addison of the Binghamton theatre and Stone Opera house and former Mayor Leroy E. Barnes originated the plans for the extraordinary celebration and they have been taken up immediately by the city authorities.

FRANKLIN MAKES FAST RUN

Covers 221 Miles at Average Speed of 42.84 Miles Per Hour.

One of the most remarkable long distance records ever staged over ordinary roads took place on May 4, when a Franklin sedan carrying four passengers covered 221 miles from Detroit to Grand Rapids and return at an average speed of 42.84 miles per hour. The car was driven by Charles Messmore, the other passengers being A. E. Tobias and C. A. Brady of the Detroit-Franklin Co., and E. H. Schumacher of the Detroit Free Press.

The party left Detroit at 2:50 a. m.

arriving at Grand Rapids at 8:02, the average running time for the 165.5 miles was 44.2 miles per hour.

The return trip average was 43.2 miles per hour. Twenty minutes was allowed for breakfast at Grand Rapids. The car was piloted throughout the trip either by state constable or city police.

Of the 221 miles covered, 25 miles

consisted of gravel road; the balance,

46 miles, was concrete. The run made by the Franklin sedan eclipses all previous records set up between two cities, at the same time shattering a several years old mark established by a car of another make with a stripped chassis.

BATHHOUSE NEAR COMPLETION.

New Enterprise at Richfield Springs Being Built by Batts & Houck.

The new Terrace Baths at Richfield Springs, costing over $25,000, will be opened by Julius Getzlek of Utica and H. J. Newman of New York June 15. The baths have been designed by Kinns & Frank of Utica, the plumbing contracts awarded to H. J. Brandeis corporation of that city and the carpenter and mason contract to Batts & Houck of Oneonta.

The new bath house will have a capacity of 300 baths a day and will embody the most modern and complete features of a bathing sanatorium. There will be large all-porcelain tubs, douche, massage, electric treatment rooms, private dressing, lounge and special rooms.

Rheumatism, high blood pressure, nervous disorders, stomach, kidney and liver troubles will not only be combated by natural sulphur spring bathing, but by all the most modern electrical means known to man. The spring water analysis on file in Washington, D. C., shows that the water contains more hydrogen sulphide than any other spring in the United States.

The baths are located in the finest part of Richfield Springs and the building is easily the most distinguished in the town. The Southern New York Railway car stops right at the bath house.

Dr. B. W. Alexander of New York, in charge, is a recognized specialist in the application of sulphur water and electricity in chronic disease.

Grand Cantonment Ends Sessions With Parade and Ceremonial Work

Parade of Afternoon Impressive Spectacle With Many Uniformed Contingents and Auxiliaries in Line—Beautiful Degree of Chivalry Confirmed At Armory in Evening—Grand Military Ball Ends Activities of Cantonment—Auxiliary Completes Work Today

With an immense parade yesterday afternoon and a military ball last evening, featured by the conferring of the Decoration of Chivalry, the convention of the State I. O. O. F. Cantonment came to a most auspicious conclusion. The business session of the Ladies Militant this morning at 9 o'clock in I. O. O. F. temple will complete the convention of that auxiliary. There were about nine hundred marchers in the parade, and more than a thousand present at the armory last evening. Oneonta has taken a great deal of pleasure and considerable pride in the entertainment of the State Encampment and State Cantonment of I. O. O. F., and hopes that the representatives will remember with pleasure their stay here when Oneonta is mentioned.

The uniformed parade of yesterday afternoon was one of that kind which is seldom seen now days, and which leaves a vivid picture in the minds of spectators. Headed by the city police department, and embracing the three city bands, the Cantons, Encampments, lodges and Ladies auxiliaries marched from the corner of Chestnut and Main streets up Main to Elm, Elm to Spruce to Maple, Maple to Main and back down Main to Broad street. The parade was reviewed at the foot of Ford avenue by Department Commander P. H. Dickson and staff and General P. H. Gurney, after marching from Maple street in mass formation to the strains of "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

The uniforms of the officers and men were most striking, though no more attractive than those of the auxiliary to Grand Canton Nemo of Albany, a hat of purple and gold and a white uniform with a cap of purple.

The prizes as awarded by the judges F. M. H. Jackson, U. A. Ferguson, Frank Sherman and Donald Grant, were as follows: The Canton coming the longest distance with not less than 18 Chevaliers and three officers in line, $50, Canton Ithaca of Ithaca; the Canton making the best appearance in line, $50, to Grand Canton Nemo of Albany; Canton appearing in parade with the largest number of actual members in line, $50, to Canton Binghamton of Binghamton; Canton appearing in parade with second largest number of actual members in line, $25, to Canton Union of Schenectady; Lodge making best appearance in parade, $50, to Grand Gorge Encampment; and the auxiliary making the best appearance in the parade, $50, to the auxiliary of Grand Canton Nemo of Albany.

The streets on the line of march were well lined with spectators, many of the industries and offices, as well as the schools, closing the day in time to allow the people thus confined to view the parade.

Following the breaking up of the parade many of the people went to Neahwa park to see the ball game between the Sidney Troopers and the Oneonta Indians. Account of this game appears in another column of The Star.

The Military Ball.

Last evening the armory was packed with more than a thousand representatives and spectators for the military ball and the conferring of the Decoration of Chivalry. The Decoration was first conferred on Chevalier H. B. Brown of Ithaca by General Gurney and staff, assisted by Canton Binghamton, and the following ladies of Oneonta, Miss Ethel Beach, Mrs. A. J. Bookhout, Mrs. George Birge, Mrs. Wallace L. Woodworth, Mrs. Charles Slits and Florence Mead.

There were more than fifty members of Canton Nemo on the floor, and the ceremony was most impressive and beautiful.

Department Commander P. H. Dickson, assisted by Grand Canton Nemo of Albany and Ethel Beach, Mrs. Jerry Rogers, Ethel Whittaker, Mrs. Wright Terry, Mrs. Herbert Ryndes and Elizabeth Stapleton of Oneonta, conferred the degree on the following ladies: Mrs. Charles Kresser of Fort Plain, Jennie Damuth of Corning, Lillian C. Hayes of Norwich, Jessie Thayer of Norwich, Althea Keaton of Norwich, Nannie Birdsell of Johnson City, Ada

With the Ladies Militant.

At the session of the Ladies Militant held at the lodge room of the Elks' club yesterday morning the degree of the auxiliary as conferred on Mrs. Grace Dibble of this city and one of the visiting ladies. Many of the men took advantage of the opportunity to see the work of the auxiliary to Grand Canton Nemo of Albany, and of course all of the ladies were present. The work of this degree team composed entirely of women is most excellent and those who saw it yesterday were loud in their praise of the auxiliary of Grand Canton Nemo.

Other routine business came before the meeting, and the concluding session, including the election and installation of officers will be held in I. O. O. F. temple this morning, beginning at nine o'clock.

DEATH OF CHARLES E. HEALD

WON FAME AS ATTORNEY FOR ALBERT T. PATRICK, NEW YORK ATTORNEY

Defended Man Accused of Murder of Millionaire Rice, Whose Fortune Was Left to Patrick, Through 12 Years of Litigation — Practicing Attorney for 33 Years in New York — Later Engaged in Realty Operations Here — Man of Fine Attainments.

Charles E. Heald, for 33 years a prominent attorney in New York city, where he won wide repute for his efforts in behalf of Albert T. Patrick, Esq., accused of the murder of millionaire Rice, died at his residence, 108 Chestnut street, Thursday morning at 4 o'clock. Mr. Heald had been in failing health for more than a year, in fact it is quite probable that he overtaxed his naturally strong vitality in his efforts in behalf of Patrick and never enjoyed perfect health after that memorable legal struggle.

Funeral services will be held from his late residence Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Edison J. Farley of the First Baptist church will officiate and the body will be taken the following day, leaving on the morning train, to Concord, Mass., for interment in the family plot. Mrs. Heald will be accompanied on the trip to Concord by her niece, Miss Margaret Campbell, of Boston, Mass., and by her son-in-law, Edmund Quigley, Esq.

Mr. Heald was born at Carlisle, Mass., October 25, 1859, the son of Benjamin Franklin Heald and Anna Philbrick Heald. Following his residence in New York city, which 23 years of active practice of the law there, he purchased the Granian mansion in Greenwich, hoping that life in the open would prove beneficial and aid in restoring his physical powers impaired by the long and strenuous years as an attorney in New York.

After a few years passed there he some 12 years ago removed to Oneonta and has since been engaged in realty operations in this city. He was president of the Walling Lake company and was associated with S. H. Gardner in other real estate interests. Speaking of him yesterday Mr. Gardner declared that "he was one of the finest men I have ever known and one of the most capable attorneys, especially in corporate matters, that ever practised in this state. He was a man of broad general knowledge with a heart as tender and courageous as a child."

While engaged in the practice of the law in the metropolis, Mr. Heald was engaged in much important litigation. He gained perhaps the widest fame for his efforts for and with Mr. Patrick. For 12 years he fought legal battles and though the accused was thrice convicted and sentenced to the electric chair, he was finally freed and is now a resident of the state of Texas. Only recently in conversation with a confidant Mr. Heald is quoted as saying that he probably was the closest intimate of Patrick during the long struggle to save him from the death penalty, yet he never had been able to satisfy his own mind as to the guilt or innocence of the accused.

Mr. Heald is survived by his wife who was formerly Mrs. John J. Fallon of Boston, Mass., who has been most devoted and considerate in her care of the deceased, by his son-in-law, Frank E. Patridge, and one grandson, Melvin H. Patridge, both of New York, who were with him and the family at the time of the death, and by two brothers, Dr. Benjamin Heald of Lowell, Mass., and W. L. Heald of Greenville, N. H.

Editor Parker of Convention.

Among the interested and interesting visitors at the Odd Fellows' convention during the week has been A. D. Parker, general manager of the Daily Standard at Watertown, one of the most interesting exchanges that reaches the ear office, Mr. Parker, who rounds a bit in politics and who has sat at some 17 years at Albany, also finds time to polish the L. O. Parker of the Standard.

Editorial writing, the fraternity, Mrs. Parker and her joined Mr. Parker and his wife, as well as many others, and those of a like nature, all destined for their home, Mr. Parker plans to be soon home on the second contingent in report of the convention plans and arrangements. The Oneonta School Parade Day.

Parade day exercises were held at the Chestnut Street school last evening and were handsomely attended by parents and friends who were delighted to see a person by the graphic manner in which the students presented the program printed in The Star of yesterday. Especially pleasant was the production of the play, "The Captain-Taker," and the work of the student orchestra.

FIFTY-ONE LIBRARIANS

President of Mallett Institute held yesterday in Oneonta — Interesting Talks on timely Book Topics — Twenty-Two Committees Report.

There was a record attendance at the County district institute held yesterday at the Huntington Memorial Library, fifty-one librarians, library workers and others especially interested in the library activities of their community, being present for the two days.

A majority of the librarians had given preference to the session up so there was no lack of interest and enthusiasm in the open discussion that followed the individual speaking up on a subject by one of those specially qualified to speak on that line.

Most popular of the state department was conductor of the morning session and Miss Mayjorie Quigley of the Elmira Free Library of the afternoon session.

Following is the program of topics discussed with the names of the leaders:

Equality and Freedom of Thought at the Library — Mrs. Hodge Huntington Memorial Library.

Tales of Library Progress in a Community — Rev. Mr. Hutchinson, a trustee of Kenyon Free Library, Morris.

In place of a talk on Helping Borrowers to Select the Right Books, Mrs. Blackall was asked to give a little account of some recent travel experiences.

Promised at 12 o'clock the session closed that all might spend a full hour in looking over the many delightful new books that were displayed conveniently for examination, and that were to be talked over later in the meeting. This is always of great interest to our library friends from the nearby communities, especially those who have been to the annual fair for purchase than is necessary in our own library. It is a valuable thing to be able to see these books and not have to depend entirely on the printed criticism.

In the afternoon, the first hour was devoted to a review and discussion of a list of recent books furnished by the state department, the discussion led by Miss Tugger, all participating enthusiastically as each book had been read and a judgement on it formed by some one. This is one of the most helpful features of these meetings and very practical in its values for librarians.

Miss Rutheshier of the Guernsey Memorial Library, a winner of one of the "state scholarships" for special excellence in library service, then gave a brief account of the history and meaning of these scholarships, their establishment by the New York library association four years ago, and the value of this work in raising the standard of library service in the smaller communities of the state. Other states are now following New York's lead in this endeavor to better library service.

The part the public library can and should play in making itself a repository for local history was covered by Miss Quigley. The program of the afternoon concluded with a discussion of "Themes to Guard Against in Children's Books," led by Miss Quigley and Miss Fagg, head of the children's department of the Huntington Memorial Library, many titles in individual reading, the fraternity, Mrs. Parker and her joined Mr. Parker and his wife, as well as many others, and those of a like nature, all destined for their home, Mr. Parker plans to be soon home on the second contingent in report of the convention plans and arrangements. In fact, much of the young life has been mailed to Watertown and is being put in type.

ALASKA RAILROAD COST $56,000,000

Government's Second Largest Work Nearly Finished.

PUTTING ON LAST TOUCHES

With the addition of a few last touches on a large steel bridge over the Tanana river at Fairbanks, Alaska, the government will practically complete the second largest construction job it has ever undertaken. This is the Alaska railroad, which has cost approximately $56,000,000, was eight years in building, and which runs 467 miles into the heart of the territory from Seward on Resurrection bay to Fairbanks on the Tanana.

By the end of June the construction force will lay down their tools for the last time. Trains are running the entire length of the road, and have been for about eighteen months.

Expect Big Returns.

What the road will mean to Alaska and its people, government officials hesitate to say. The returns will be immense. The development of the territory's mineral resources and agricultural possibilities resulting from completion of a successful artery connecting with the outside world the entire year round, is beyond compute.

Annual revenues from freight and passengers already exceed $300,000, and as traffic increases with completed engineers see a revenue of almost a million dollars annually.

While Alaska is usually thought of as a land of gold and ice, its gold production has been only a portion of the resources. Coal also is found extensively, as well as the slightly less valuable lignite; gas and oil have been discovered, and development has started only recently. The railroad penetrates these fields, and not only provides the rest of Alaska with fuel cheaper than can be imported, but may some day make them an important source for the nation.

The fisheries, timber industry and homesteading in Alaska's rich agricultural districts will all be benefited through better transportation and cheaper rates on food and clothing. While the interior has heretofore been locked tightly in winter to everything but sleds, the railroad will provide a ready exit to open water to the south during the entire year.

Diseases Overcome.

While the climate was one of the most formidable obstacles to construction, others as difficult were not far removed. Even the winter freezing of the rivers was put to advantage in facilitating bridge construction. The thick ice was utilized to bear much of the fall work.

Three long bridges were built. The first, across the Susitna river at Gold Point, cost approximately $12,000. The Hurricane Gulch bridge, built across the rocky canyon walls, is 800 feet above the stream and has a span of 300 feet. The Watson bridge, which spans the Tanana at that town over a 100-foot bridge which with trestle approaches, is 1,800 feet in overall length. No channel piers were used in these bridges because of the danger of the spring ice breakup.

Broad Pass, the highest point of the road where it crosses the Alaska range, is 2,400 feet above the sea level.

WOMAN TOO FAT FOR COACH*So Corpulent Belgian Gets Permission to Ride in Baggage Car.

The Belgian minister of railways has just brilliantly solved a knotty problem set him by a woman of Reims, who to follow her occupation is compelled to travel a great deal.

But she weighs 350 pounds, and she finds it impossible to squeeze through the door of an ordinary railway carriage. It was therefore necessary for her to apply for permission to travel in the baggage car.

This permission has now been granted, but the minister made the woman sign an agreement that she will not claim damages for injury that she may receive while thus traveling and that she will also allow herself to be searched each time before leaving the train.

TABLETS PROVE HOAX*Practical Jokers Inscribed Plates, Then Buried Them at Palmyra.

Closer examination of the plates found on Mormon hill, Palmyra, a village near Rochester, N. Y., inscriptions on which led the discoverer, Rev. Charles E. Driver, to believe they refuted the tenets of Mormonism, has revealed that they are the work of a practical joker.

The Greek inscriptions, it was found, had been punched into the metal with a shoemaker's awl. The translations read "repeat ye" and "ye must be born again."

Peter Bean, leader of the Mormons in Palmyra, scouted the discovery as a plot to discredit the religion.

Couldn't Desert Ball Team.

Steve Beckrich spent a few extra days to drive at Santa Fe, N. M., although he was free. Steve was the star pitcher of the prison nine.

Four days after he could have been free, Steve won his case, shook hands all around, and departed. The team is reported to return.

One Thing He Knows.

"You tell me, sir," demanded counsel for the defense, "just mind what you are saying. Do you assert that you were wounded before you left?" The witness plucked his right earlobe. "I never said where I was wounded," he said. "I was shot in the arm in the center of my shoulder. All I know is that I was hit in the shoulder."

MELODY THE LIFE OF MUSIC

No Training So Complete as Through Will Follow Without It, According to Many.

What gives life to a work, what makes it true, will never be its characteristics, personal or abstract; but, rather, its essential melody. Thence springs its real power, because it comes straight from the heart of the audience. There is no training so complete or so thorough that it can suffice without that melodic source, Darlene Milford writes in the North American Review. It is the primary element—the authentic organic one that comes from the pure sentiment itself and that is conducive to rhythmical and harmonic design. Without melody all composing will fail & end in vain rhetoric, quite conventional and empty.

IT IS THE simple place of music which I found out one day when I was studying all the compositions with my master, Antonio Gades. I was showing him some very sympathetic piece or other and he said to me:

"Just write for me eight measures that can be played without any accompaniment."

Melody is then our sin and greatest affliction.

It alone will allow us to work by our imagination and yet keep close to the tradition which we feel do to ours.

School Books May Contain Disease.
Because of the many cases of tuberculosis among teachers to the rural districts of England, local educational committees have concluded that the germs infection comes from the children's school books that teachers take home.

Fake Tooth Choke*Man Falling in River

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Charles H. Logan, marine engineer on the government steamship Sierra, was choked to death by his false teeth when he fell into the Monongahela river.

It had been thought Logan was drowned when he fell into the water while hurrying back to his boat from a visit to his four-year-old daughter. He had dreamed the child had been drowned and hurried home to learn the dream was false.

Man's Restricted Vision.

Man's point of view is too restricted, his judgment too uncertain, to enable him to pronounce wisely upon the bearing and value of providential events. He should bow to superior wisdom rather than rebel.

Woman's Hair to be Plucked*in Case of Disease

Woman's hair will presumably become non-existent, bald or chronic. It is often observed, however, in Africa, India, China, etc., that women will shave the crown hair to remove tumors. Such was the case when Queen Victoria suffered from breast cancer.

When your physician or dentist advises you to clip off all your hair, remember that the purpose of clipping a domestic dog—up and take a bath of your system. You won't mind to take a bath every morning. Think of the hot time and the duration of illness you are daily enduring!

What you need have is real soap—SAFE—and if you will bathe regularly each day you will become a different person within a week or two. Safe Hair, with its natural body, strength, glossiness and
